1 COMES NOW the plaintiff, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, by and through 2 its counsel, Karen P. Hewitt, United States Attorney, and Steve 3 Miller, Assistant United States Attorney, and hereby files its 4 response and opposition to defendants' above-referenced motions. Said 5 response is based upon the files and records of this case, together 6 with the attached statement of facts, memorandum of points and 7 authorities.

8 I.

9 STATEMENT OF FACTS

10 On June 3, 2008, Border Patrol Agents were using a scope to 11 observe the area along the border fence from an area called "Goat 12 Canyon" to the Border Field State Park. At approximately 5:00 p.m., 13 an agent saw two mounted horses traveling westbound. One horse 14 carried both of the defendants and the second horse carried another 15 rider. The horses traveled together to an area known as Research 16 Trailer road and then turned south towards Goat Canyon.

17 The agent looked away to other areas along the area and, a few 18 minutes later, the agent observed the one horse without the defendants 19 by the hitching post area without the other horse and rider. The 20 agent looked toward the south and located the other horse and rider 21 in a creek bed. The agent saw the single rider came out of the brush 22 and headed toward the defendants. They stopped a few feet from each 23 other and talked for a couple of minutes.

24 The agent looked away to police the area. When the agent looked 25 back toward the single rider, the rider had lost control of the horse 26 and the agent observed that the rider was not the same person the 27 agent observed going into Goat Canyon. The agent observed that the 28 defendants on the other horse were trying to call out to the single

1 rider and then observed the horse run away from the single rider. The 2 Scope operator radioed these observations to other agents because the 3 agent was aware that there had been recent incidents of "horse 4 swapping" to facilitate alien smuggling.

5 Another agent responded to the area and the defendants rode away 6 as soon as the marked Border Patrol car approached. The agent
7 contacted the single rider and identified himself as Jose Guadalupe 8 Gonzaga-Ceja. Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja admitted to the agent that he had just 9 crossed the border over the fence and that he was being smuggled on 10 horseback.

11 The agent contacted the defendants and both denied knowing Mr.
12 Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja. A records check revealed that defendant Martinez-13 Sandoval was on supervised release for a prior alien smuggling 14 conviction.

15 During Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja's deposition, he revealed that he 16 traveled from Jalisco to Tijuana approximately two weeks before his 17 apprehension. Prior to his travel, Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja spoke with his 18 brother over the telephone about the smuggling arrangements. Once Mr.
19 Gonzaga-Ceja arrived in Tijuana, he contacted "El Verde" at the Hotel 20 Carrillo. Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja said he contacted El Verde on behalf of 21 his brother. El Verde told Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja that he was to be crossed 22 by horse and that he was charging $2500. El Verde took Mr. Gonzaga-23 Ceja to the border fence within sight of the Bull Ring. El Verde 24 instructed Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja that when two people arrived on horses, 25 he was to jump the fence and get on the horse.

26 When Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja saw the horses, he jumped over the fence 27 and landed next to a horse. The defendants were on the other horse 28 approximately ten steps away. The single rider of the horse, Mr.

1 Gonzaga-Ceja eventually rode and gave Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja a hat and then 2 jumped over the fence back into Mexico. (Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja's boots 3 were provided to him by El Verde before they went to the border fence)
4 After Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja mounted his horse, defendant Guerrero-Rivera 5 waved to him in a "follow me" gesture. Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja followed the 6 defendants on horseback for about ten minutes. After about ten 7 minutes, Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja threw him off. The defendants stopped their 8 horse and told Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja "you don't know us." Shortly 9 thereafter, the Border Patrol Agent made contact with Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja 10 and learned about the horse swapping.

11 II

12 POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

13 A. THERE IS SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO STATE
14 A CLAIM FOR BRINGING TO UNDER COUNT 1

15 Defendant argues this court should dismiss Count 1 of the 16 indictment for failure to state a claim. He argues that under United 17 States v. Lopez, 484 F.3d 1186 (9th Cir. 2007) and United States v.
18 Hernandez-Orellana, ____ F.3d ____ 2008 WL 3852623 (9th Cir. 2008), 19 that the evidence shows that he only acted after the "bringing to" was 20 completed.

21 The flaw in defendant's argument is that both are liable for 22 assisting "El Verde" in bringing Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja to the United States 23 because there were very detailed and intricate arrangements made 24 before Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja entered the United States over the fence. El 25 Verde told Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja that he was going to be smuggled by horse.
26 At the fence, before he was "brought to" the United States, Mr.
27 Gonzaga-Ceja was instructed to wait until the horses came and then 28 jump the fence. Before the bringing to, Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja received

1 boots in anticipation of going over the fence. The horse and the 2 escort were pre-arranged before El Verde brought Mr. Gonzaga-Ceja to 3 the United States. Consequently, all the defendants' actions were 4 placed in motion prior to the completion of the bringing to offense 5 and they are still liable as aiders and abettors in Count 1.

6 B. THE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT DISCLOSE THE 7 LOCATION OF THE SURVEILLANCE SCOPE

8 Defendant moves this court to compel the disclosure of the 9 location of the Border Patrol's scope. The Government requests this 10 court deny defendant's motion on the grounds of executive privilege.
11 The location of the agent during her observation is immaterial to the 12 case. However, as this court is well aware, smuggling organizations 13 conform their conduct around the practices of law enforcement. The 14 novel method of smuggling in this case is a prime example of the 15 smugglers' ingenuity. Once the location of the scope is compromised, 16 smugglers will enact counter-measures to avoid being observed from 17 that outpost. Consequently, defendant's motion to disclose the 18 location of the scope should be denied.

19 C. THE TRIAL SHOULD NOT BE SEVERED

20 Defendants move this Court to sever their trial from the 21 codefendant. Rule 8(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure 22 states:

23 Joinder of Defendants. Two or more defendants may be 24 charged in the same indictment or information if they are 25 alleged to have participated in the same act or transaction 26 or in the same series of acts or transactions constituting an offense or offenses. Such defendant's may be charged in one or more counts together or separately and all of the defendants need not be charged in each count.

27 //

1 Rule 14 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure states:

2 If it appears that a defendant or the government is 3 prejudiced by a joinder of offenses or of defendants in an 4 indictment or information or by such joinder for trial 5 together, the court may order an election or separate 6 trials of counts, grant a severance of defendants or 7 provide whatever other relief justice requires. In ruling 8 on a motion by a defendant for severance the court may 9 order the attorney for the government to deliver to the 10 court for inspection in camera any statements or 11 confessions made by the defendants which the government 12 intends to introduce in evidence at trial.

13 The general rule is that defendants charged together should be 14 tried together. Parker v. United States, 404 F.2d 1193, 1196 (9th Cir.
15 1968), cert. denied, 394 U.S. 1004 (1968). One reason for this is for 16 the efficient administration of justice and judicial resources. Id.
17 at 1196.

18 The primary basis of GUERRERO's motion to sever defendants is a 19 claim that he will be prejudiced from the admission of his 20 codefendant's statements. This assumes that the Government will 21 attempt to use one defendant's statements against another defendant.
22 This assumption is in error because it is not possible under Bruton
23 v. United States, 391 U.S. 123 (1968), to use a codefendant's 24 statements as affirmative proof of another defendant's guilt if there 25 is a chance that the codefendant will not be subject to cross-26 examination. The remedy, however, is not severance, but a redaction 27 of the codefendant's confession to include only those statements that 28 incriminate the confessing codefendant. In this case, the Government 29 would redact any statements by either defendant that incriminate or 30 exculpate the other codefendant. Therefore, defendant's motion to 31 sever on this basis should be denied.

32 The primary basis of MARTINEZ-JIMENEZ's motion is the claim that 33 the parties will offer mutually exclusive defenses. This issue was

1 resolved by United States v. Zafiro, 506 U.S. 534 (1993), when the 2 Supreme Court held that mutually exclusive defenses are not per se 3 prejudicial. Absent a specific showing beyond defendant's bald 4 statement that the defenses are exclusive, this court will be 5 presented with a situation similar to the one presented in United 6 States v. Gillam, 167 F.3d 1273 (9th Cir. 1999), where the claim was 7 asserted without any affirmative evidence. What defendant really 8 seeks is the ability to claim that her codefendant is the guilty party 9 without the embarrassment of doing so in the personal presence of that 10 friend in court. Defendant's claim of mutually exclusive defenses is 11 insufficient basis to justify a severance.

12 To the extent that defendants also argue that they will be 13 prejudiced by guilt by association, this is another bald statement 14 without support and presupposes that the jury cannot follow the law 15 and that this court cannot craft limiting instructions that cure any 16 problems. Without more support behind a claim of prejudice, this 17 court should deny defendants' motion to sever the trial.

18 D. DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS BECAUSE OF ALLEGED 19 ERROR IN THE GRAND JURY INSTRUCTIONS SHOULD BE DENIED

20 Defendant argues that the indictment should be dismissed because 21 of various instructions that were or were not given to the grand jury.
22 United States v. Marcucci, 299 F.3d 1156 (9th Cir. 2002), and United 23 States v. Navarro-Vargas, 408 F.3d 1184 (9th Cir. 2005), are s 24 dispositive on this issue and defendant's motion should be summarily 25 denied.

26 Defendant's current motion attempts to distinguish Navarro-Vargas 27 and has been the subject to much litigation in this district. This 28 identical motion was denied by Judge Moskowitz in the case of United

1 States v. Martinez-Covarrubias, 07cr0491-BTM. Rather than filing the 2 Government's standard response brief, which would invariably 3 necessitate a motion for permission to file a response and opposition 4 of over 25 pages, the Government adopts the factual findings and the 5 legal reasoning of Judge Moskowitz and recommends this court summarily 6 deny defendant's motion.

7 E. DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO SUPPRESS EVIDENCE 8 SHOULD BE DENIED

9 Defendant argues that this court should suppress the evidence 10 because the search and seizure was illegal and in violation of her 11 Fourth Amendment Rights. Defendant argues that the detention was 12 without reasonable suspicion.

13 The Government does not dispute that an investigative stop or 14 detention is only valid if an officer has a reasonable suspicion, 15 based on specific and articulable facts, that (1) criminal activity 16 may be afoot, and (2) the person about to be detained is connected 17 with the possible criminal activity. Reasonable suspicion under such 18 circumstances is determined by an objective standard taking into 19 consideration the totality of the circumstances. United States v.
20 Arvizu, 534 U.S. 266, 273 (2002); Maryland v. Macon, 472 U.S. 463, 21 470-71 (1985); United States v. Cortez, 449 U.S. 128, 136-39 (1981); 22 Texas v. Brown, 460 U.S. 730 (1983); Scott v. United States, 4672 U.S.
23 128, 136-39 (1978); Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1, 22 (1968); People v.
24 Gonzales, 216 Cal. App. 3d 627, 633 (1985); People v. McGaughran, 25
25 Cal. 3d 577, 582 (1979); People v. Superior Court (Simon), 7 Cal. 3d 26 186, 200 (1972).

27 Arvizu and Ornelas v. United States, 517 U.S. 690, 699 (1996).
28 Ornelas recognized that "reasonable suspicion" cannot be precisely

1 articulated. Arvizu, 534 U.S. at 274, Ornelas, 517 U.S. at 695.
2 "Reasonable suspicion" and "probable cause" are commonsense, 3 nontechnical concepts that deal with "the factual and practical 4 considerations of everyday life on which reasonable and prudent men, 5 not legal technicians, act'" Ornelas, 517 U.S. at 695, Illinois v.
6 Gates, 462 U.S. 213, 231 (1983), (quoting Brinegar v. United States, 7 338 U.S. 160, 175 (1949).)

8 "In the context of Border Patrol searches, the factors to be 9 considered in determining whether 'reasonable suspicion' exists to 10 justify stopping a vehicle include, but are not limited to: 1) 11 characteristics of the area; 2) proximity to the border; 3) usual 12 patterns of traffic and time of day; 4) previous alien or drug 13 smuggling in the area; 5) behavior of the driver, including obvious 14 attempts to evade officers'; 6) appearance or behavior of passengers; 15 7) model and appearance of the vehicle; and, 8) officer experience."
16 United States v. Garcia-Barron, 116 F.3d 1305, 1307 (9th Cir. 1997)
17 citing United States v. Brignoni-Ponce, 422 U.S. 873, 885 (1975).

18 In the present case, defendant MARTINEZ-JIMENEZ was riding on a 19 horse that was observed riding in tandem with another horse that 20 switched riders near the international border. Once the Border Patrol 21 learned that the material witness had just entered into the United 22 States and knew that "horse swapping" was a method of smuggling, the 23 agents were entitled to investigate the other horse's involvement with 24 the smuggling venture. There was nothing unlawful about the 25 defendant's detention. Nor were the agents required to take 26 defendant's statements at face value.

27 //

1 F. ANY EVIDENCE FROM THE CELL PHONES IS ADMISSIBLE
2 EVEN IF IT WAS OBTAINED WITHOUT A WARRANT

3 Defendant moves this court to suppress any evidence recovered 4 from the cell phones the defendant's possessed because it was obtained 5 without a warrant. Any evidence from the defendant's cell phones 6 should not be suppressed because a warrant is not required to examine 7 the cell phones that were seized in this case. The cell phone was 8 seized after the agents had probable cause to arrest defendant for 9 smuggling aliens. Once there was probable cause to arrest, then the 10 agents are entitled to seize and search the evidence of the crime 11 scene. Agents are entitled to search the mode of transportation and 12 seize all the items and documents for later determination of relevance 13 to the case. Likewise, the agents are entitled to search the 14 defendants and all of their possessions. Though the relevance of the 15 items may not be readily apparent at the time of arrest, the evidence 16 may be of value once the case fleshes out. For instance, inside one 17 defendant's purse was her police ID. Inside the SUV were documents 18 showing that the other defendant owned the vehicle. All of the items 19 at the crime scene, including their cell phones, may be kept for 20 examination in connection with the case.

21 The contents of defendant's cell phone is made relevant by the 22 fact that it was possessed by a woman who was connected to an alien 23 who just hopped the fence to get on a horse that was in tandem with 24 defendant's horse. There is no functional difference between the 25 contents of her cell phone and the contents of her purse, wallet, 26 pocket or saddle bag. A cell phone is no different than a paper 27 notebook that contains names and numbers of friends and contacts. The 28 log of sent and received calls is no different than a paper receipt

1 that showed that defendant bought gas at a particular station at a 2 particular date and time. To follow defendant's argument to its 3 illogical conclusion, she would require a warrant every time the agent 4 wants to open a defendant's wallet or notebook that had been seized 5 at the arrest. This court would have to issue search warrants every 6 time the agent wanted to view the car or look in the glove box. The 7 contents of a cell phone is no different than any other container that 8 holds incriminating documentary evidence. Defendant's motions to 9 suppress any evidence in the cell phones should be denied.

10 G. DEFENDANT'S STATEMENTS ARE ADMISSIBLE

11 Defendant moves this court to suppress her statements to the 12 Border Patrol Agent who stopped her because they were obtained in 13 violation of his Miranda rights. The Government is aware of this 14 court's practice of holding an evidentiary hearing regarding motions 15 to suppress statements. The Government will establish that 16 defendant's statements were obtained in compliance with Miranda and 17 that they were knowing and voluntary.

18 H. EVIDENCE OF THE SMUGGLING ARRANGEMENTS ARE ADMISSIBLE

19 Defendant moves this court to suppress evidence regarding the 20 arrangements that the material witness made. The evidence is directly 21 relevant and admissible to establish that defendants and El Verde were 22 involved in smuggling aliens for financial gain. Prior to the 23 material witness jumping the fence, there were intricate arrangements 24 made to get him across by using the "horse swap" ruse. The statements 25 of the material witness' brother and El Verde were made during the 26 conspiracy to transport the material witness over the fence.
27 Furthermore, the extent of the arrangements that the material witness 28 made is relevant to show the extent and efficiency of the smugglers'

1 organization. This is directly relevant because it leads to the 2 reasonable inference that individuals would not go to this kind of 3 effort for other than financial gain. Defendant's motion to exclude 4 the evidence should be denied.

5 I. THE GOVERNMENT WILL PROVIDE EXPERT NOTICE
6 PRIOR TO TRIAL

7 Defendant moves this court to exclude expert testimony. Most of 8 the evidence that could be considered "expert" would be related to the 9 method of "horse swapping." That evidence would be adequately offered 10 by the material witness' testimony. To the extent that agents relate 11 their past knowledge or experience in relation to "horse swapping," 12 that would not really qualify as expert testimony because it would not 13 be offered to establish defendant's acted in conformity with known 14 practices. However, the Government reserves the right to offer expert 15 evidence if the issue is raised in cross-examination and the 16 defendant's questioning necessitates clarification of any particular 17 point.

18 J. INDICTMENT IN THE JURY ROOM

19 Defendant moves to exclude a copy of the indictment from the jury 20 room during deliberations. The Government submits this issue to this 21 court's ordinary custom and practice.

22 K. ATTORNEY CONDUCTED VOIR DIRE

23 The Government is aware that this court sometimes grants attorney 24 conducted voir dire. The Government submits this issue to this 25 court's customary practice.

1 L. GRAND JURY TRANSCRIPTS

2 Defendant moves to compel the production of the grand jury
3 transcripts. The Government will not produce the grand jury 4 transcripts because the grand jury witness will not testify at trial.

5 M. JENCKS MAERIAL WILL BE PROVIDED

6 Defendant moves to compel the production of Jencks material prior 7 to trial. To the extent a witness has prior statements, the 8 Government will provide those. The Government need not provide Jencks 9 material of the material witness' deposition because those statements 10 are not in the exclusive possession of the Government and defendants 11 must obtain their own transcripts. The Government will provide a copy 12 of the video of the deposition.

13 N. EVIDENCE OF NERVOUSNESS IS ADMISSIBLE

14 Defendant moves to exclude evidence of any nervousness. To the 15 extent defendant was nervous, the Government reserves the right to 16 offer evidence of the objective signs and symptoms that allow a person 17 to reach the conclusion that defendant was nervous. The Government 18 does not intend to offer opinion evidence regarding conclusions 19 deduced from those same signs and symptoms. However, defendant should 20 not be allowed to reduce everyday lay observations into complicated 21 scientific standards. Otherwise, no one would be able to recognize 22 that someone was intoxicated unless he or she had an advanced degree 23 in neuroharmacology or was a licensed forensic alcohol analyst. Lay 24 witnesses are entitled to express their observations in commonly 25 understood terms. Any observations that defendant was nervous should 26 be admitted and the witness should be allowed to use the term nervous.

1 O. THE GOVERNMENT SUBMITS THE DECISION TO 2 PROVIDE JURY INSTRUCTION TO THIS COURT

3 Defendant moves this court to provide a separate copy of the jury 4 instructions to each juror. The Government has no objection to 5 defendant's motion and submits this issue to this court's ordinary 6 custom and practice.

7 P. 404(B) AND 609 EVIDENCE

8 Defendant moves to exclude evidence under Rules 404(b) and 609.
9 The Government intends to offer evidence of defendant's prior 10 involvement in alien smuggling as affirmative evidence of an absence 11 of mistake. Though the evidence would be classified as inextricably 12 intertwined to the present case, to the extent that defendant 13 MARTINEZ-JIMENEZ's prior phone calls to a known "horse swapping" alien 14 smuggler, the Government gives notice of its intention to offer that 15 evidence.

16 Both defendants have prior felony convictions. In the event that 17 either defendant testifies, the Government will use the fact of the 18 felony to impeach their credibility. If defendant MARTINEZ-JIMENEZ 19 elects to testify, the Government will also examine the fact that she 20 was involved in alien smuggling prior to being caught on the horse.

21 Q. POVERTY EVIDENCE

22 Defendant moves to exclude evidence of his financial condition.
23 Essentially, defendant is seeking exclusion of poverty evidence. The 24 government concedes that poverty evidence is inadmissible and does not 25 intend to offer evidence of either defendants' poverty.

1 R. THE CASE AGENT WILL REMAIN IN COURT

2 Defendant moves to exclude the Government's case agent. The 3 Government is entitled to have a designated case agent remain at 4 counsel table during trial.

5 III

6 CONCLUSION

7 For the foregoing reasons, the Government respectfully requests 8 that defendant's motions be denied and the Government motions be 9 granted.
